MELISA LABORATORIUM: 15 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

Natural and Organic Cosmetics

The company "Melisa Laboratorium" has been successfully operating for over 15 years and selling high-quality products to demanding customers in Northern Europe. We are one of the leading companies that produce high-quality, natural, safe, and effective cosmetics using organic ingredients.

NATURAL VS. ORGANIC: UNDERSTANDING THE DIFFERENCE

How to Identify Truly Organic Products

“Natural” does not necessarily mean organic.

Labels such as "100% natural," "Eco," "Bio," "Organic," and similar symbols on products do not guarantee their compliance with international ecological standards unless they are confirmed by specific international certifications. Raw materials, ingredients, and packaging used in the production of organic products should be monitored at every stage of the manufacturing cycle, just like the finished products.

How to distinguish "synthetic" from organic products?

The answer to this question is straightforward: one needs to read the ingredient list of the products and look for valid certifications. The main difference with certified organic products is the presence of not less than 95% natural ingredients in their composition. In such products, one will not find sulfates (SLS, SLES), silicones, parabens, petroleum-derived ingredients, artificial preservatives, fragrances, dyes, or other synthetic additives. Organic products are typically free from harsh and persistent chemicals, and they are gentle on the skin. They do not cause excessive oiliness, do not irritate the skin, and are suitable for various skincare and personal care needs.

The line of organic cosmetics "Melica Organic" has obtained certifications from SIC Global LLP for production, processing, labeling, and sale of organic cosmetic products.
